Doing well

No comment

Its nice

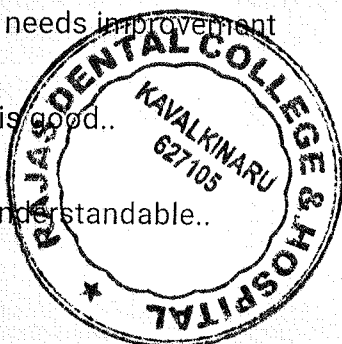

Theory is taught really well. In practical when we don't know something when asked in viva, teachers expect us to find answers ourselves. It's good but however when we couldn't find the answer we remain ignorant. So more interest can be taken in teaching those too.

Integrated learning still needs improvement

Faculties and teaching is good..

Regular faculty sensitisation on curriculum update should be there

Incorporation of recent advances in Basic Medical Sciences is necessary

More emphasis on clinical exposure needed

The curriculum should be updated in par with recent advances

Make it little more clinical oriented

Curriculum is adequate for student skill development. Human value and ethics should be incorporated.

Need to have more of objective and subjective Q & A as in competitive exams

Curriculum still follows older day concept should be convert the perspective towards future and newer technological training should be followed. Better language skills also need to improve the community skills so curriculum should include the some communication traing program.

Can be modified

More modifications needed from practicals point of view . OSCE to be included

Nothing to add upon

Increase emphasis for research and development

Should include recent student centric approaches too

Additional topics can be added

Students are doing a lot of wire bending exercises as preclinical work. That can be totally avoided or kept minimal and typodont exercises should be included in the preclinical work. Students should finish their preclinical works by the end third year and start taking cases. Students should be encouraged to communicate on English so that they can develop their language.

Course duration should be made to 4.5 years from the present 4 years. Internship period more skill development programmes should be planned

Syllabus should be updated

COMMENTS FOR IMPROVEMENT:

Department lacks patients at the undergraduate (BDS) level. Steps should be taken to increase the clinical cases especially patients between the age of 8 to 12 years, whose growth is remaining. Can conduct dental camps at nearby Upper primary/ Lower primary schools. Treatment should be free of cost or very minimal charges(material cost only).
